A POLITICAL BOMB.

CONGRESSMAN AIREN, OF SOUTH CAROLINA, PROPOSES A PRESIDENTIAL TICKET IGNORING DARLY LINES.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE HERALD, 1

CHARLESTON, S. C., Dec. 11, 1879.
A decided flutter has been caused in political directes here by the publication of a letter from Concressman D. Wyatt Aiken, advecating the presentan of a Presidential ticket which shall ignore democratic and republican party lines and the sec-tional issues which they have virtually come to democratic and republican party lines and the sectional issues which they have virtually come to represent. Mr. Aiken says:—

Looking the field all over and analyzing the incentives that prompt the actions of your legislatures I am irresistibly convinced that if we wish to hve in peace and prosperity under our own vine and ing trees at the South and cement this Union with a cohesion really patriotic and true the time has come for a "new deal" politically, or, if not yet, is not far distant, Both the political parties of this country have outlived their usefulness and should be wiped out. The word "republican," used in a partissa sense, is hateful to every respectable Southerner who loves the land that gave him birth. I havegeason to know that the word "demogratic" used in a partissan sense is no less distasteful to a majority-or the voters of the North, and they of the better classes. Then how can these two discordant elements assimilate for the public weal? They cannot. I would not destroy parties. They are necessary to establish a wholesome public opinion, but they should never be allowed to become sectional. A solid South vs. a solid North simply means a house divided against itself, and as true as the book in which it was written will be the sequence of such division. We have the "solid South" to day. The "solid North" will come so soon that it will seem like to-morrow when it is passed. My conviction is, the partisan does not live who can carry New York as a democrat. Neither will a democrat carry Indiana. All else is republican. If this result is inevitable, as I verily believe it is, what alternative have we? The people have it in their power to remodel the structure so unwisely built by their leaders. The industrial elements of the country, both North and South, comprising at least seventy-live per cent of the voting population of the Union, including farmers, mechanics and other artisans, should rally to the rescue of the tottering fabric, and in national convention place before the American people a P

VIRGINIA POLITICS.

RICHMOND, Dec. 11, 1879. The General Assembly to-day elected two out of the three State officers—viz., Winneld Scott, of Floyd county, for Storckcoper of the Penitentiary, ed John M. Brockenbrough, of Essex, for Register of the Land Office. The election of a railroad comissioner was postponed until to-morrow.

The readjusters held a caucus to-night, and the The readjusters held a caucus to-night, and the name of George C. Phillips, of Halifax, who had been nominated as their candidate for Raliroad Commissioner, was dropped. The name of Captain Assitogers, Jr., of Petersburg, was substituted. Captain Rogers is the present business manager of the Richmond Whig, the readjusters' organ, and a nephew of ticeneral Ass Rogers, Second Auditor of Virginia, who, as the funders' candidate, failed of re-election, being defeated by the readjusters.

MAINE ELECTION RETURNS.

AUGUSTA, Dec. 11, 1879. The Maine Standard, the democratic organ of the State government, to-day announces, in a semiofficial tone, that the returns from Portland, Lewis n, Saco, Augusta, Hallowell, Bath and Rockland, for Representatives, all have some technical defect, and that the Governor and Council will reject them all. These cities elected fifteen republican Repre-sentatives. The most common defect alleged is that the returns were signed by three Aldermen instead of four. In Portland the defect was in using the word "scattering." Belfast is also understood to be mong the disfranchised cities on the ground that Dr. Brooks, the Representative-elect, is an examining urgeon of pensioners and is thus ineligible. The law prohibits the Governor and Council from taking into account the question of eligibility Senators and Representatives-elect, but it understood that the Governor and Council is understood that the Governor and Council edjudge this law also to be unconstitutional and not to be obeyed. Benton, Konnebec county, is included among the places where it is alleged the returns were clandestinely changed. Charles B. Rounds, who made the charge of fliegal amendment of returns, was before the Governor and Council to-day in reference to the returns for county officers from Washington county. Rounds is a candidate for County Attorney.

A somewhat angry colloquy ensued between the Governor and Mr. Rounds in regard to the charges. Mr. Rounds stated that he had come there to inspect the returns for county officers by specific appointment, and that he would be ready to proceed with the charges preferred by him whenever the Governor and Council should order the investigation for which he had asked.

or which he had asked. Andrew Hawes, having been refused the privilege correcting informalities in the returns for Cum-erland county, addressed a communication to the of correcting informatices in the returns for Cumbertand county, addressed a communication to the Governer and Council to-day, saying that he believes there are certain errors in the efficial returns of votes from Cumberland county which an express statute of the Public Laws of 1877 gives him the right to correct by official records, copies of which he has secured and now holds for that purpose. He is also informed that the Board declines to allow any such corrections to be made, on the ground that the statute is unconstitutional as applied to the election of Senators and Representatives; that the time within which such corrections can be made will expire with the l7th inst., when certificates of election must be issued; that there is no legal method open to him in which he can obtain the common of the Subreme Court of this State upon the constitutionality of the law aforesaid before that time, but the Governor and Council, on either side of them, can require the opinion of the Subreme Court on that point at once, by prevision of the constitution; wherefore the petitioner prays that the opinion of the Justices of the Supreme Judicial Court of the State may be at once required and obtained whether the whole or any part of the statute of 1877 is unconstitutional, and if any part, what part.

FASHIONABLE WEDDING.

MARRIAGE OF CHARLES J. PISK AND LILLIE R RICHEY AT TRENTON, N. J.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE HERALD.]

THENTON, Dec. 11, 1879. Charles J., second eldest son of Mr. Harvey Fisk (Fisk & Hatch, of New York), was this afternoon married to Lillie R., youngest daughter of Mr. Augustus G. Richey, a prominent lawyer of this city. The ceremony was performed in the cosey looking brown stone Presbyterian Church on Pros pect avenue, nearly opposite and within a few hunthe palatial residence the bride's father, by Rev. Walter E. Brookes, assisted by Rev. Dr. Lowrie, of Ewing. Notwithstanding the Reavy rain storm the edifice was crowded. Among those present were Chancellor Runyon, Chancety Clerk Little, Secretary of State Kelsey, General William S. Stryker, udges Van Sickle, Green and Stewart; Mr. H. It. Williams ("Dot"), of Jersey City; Messrs. D. and W. Runkle and ladies, and Mr. H. G. Runkle, all of Pat-Runklo and ladies, and Mr. H. G. Runkle, all of Paterson; Mr. Thomas N. McCarter, Mr. John R. Emory and Mr. A. L. Dennis, of Newark; Mr. E. C. Knight (tormerly president of the New Jersey Central Railroad); Rev. Dr. Mott and Mr. Alexander Wurts, of Flemington; Mr. W. T. Runkle, Rev. Dr. Hall, Mr. Barker Gummere and Mr. Frederick Ringman, of Trenton; Mr. W. F. Runkle, Messrs, J. S. and Robert D. Farlee and Mr. H. S. Barrett, of New York; Dr. J. R. F. Beil, Mr. W. Watson and Mr. J. G. Reading, of Philadelphia, and Judge Nixon, of the United States Gourt.

Ime, of Pinladelphia, and Judge Nixon, of the United States Court.

The groomsmen were Mr. Pliny Flsk, Mr. Alexander Fisk and Mr. Issae F. Richey; the bridesmans, the Misses Carrie Nixon, Lilian G. Farlee and May Eisk, and the ushers, Mr. Robert D. Farlee, Mr. William Richey, Mr. James Chapman, Mr. Harry G. Runkle, Mr. Horace Fisk and Mr. Alexander Fisk. The bride was dressed in white silk, trimmed with damasse tulle, the vell being covered with orange brosoms. Point lace was worn on the body of the dress, and a large bonquet of white resebuds. The bridesmands were ivery white silk, trimmed with write bugles and Fringe, with veils, and carried baskets of fresh flowers. The music was rendered by Protessor Langlotz, embracing Mendelsohn's wedding march and the wedding march from "Lohengrin," selections from "Martha" and "William Tell" and the overtures to "Fra Diavola" and "Zan pa."

AT MR. RICHEY'S RESIDENCE.

The floral decorations at Mr. Richey's residence were very clatterate. One of the pieces was a marriage ten, which hung in a baywindow of the reception parior. Seven rooms altogether were decorated, the designs being numerous. The presents were varied and costly, including a set of diamond earrings, brooch and bracelets, from the groom's mother to the bride. The reception commenced at hair-past four o'clock and lasted until sevee, when the bridal party departed on their honeymoon trip via New York. Owing to the absence of moonlight the guests at the reception were desired the anticipated enjoyment of the spacious and elegant grounds in the rear of the paternal mansion.

LOOK OUT FOR THE BLIZZARD!

A QUEER VISITOR WHOSE ARRIVAL FROM THE WEST MAY BE HOURLY EXPECTED - ROUGH WORK THAT HE HAS DONE ON HIS NATIVE

Look out for it! The Blizzard! It has been announced in print as travelling in this direction by easy stages, but there has been singular public apathy about giving it a reception, and from the state of feeling it is safe to say that no one cares to serve on a committee for that purpose. In fact, the most recent advices proclaim that the Blizzard is not to come here at all; that it pursued all sorts of evil courses in the West, and dissipated so much before getting out of the Territories that it was a perfect wreck before it reached the Mississippi. This cheer, ful intelligence stared many a law-abiding citizen in the face yesterday, and, strange to say, he did not feel a bit relieved. It glared from placards at curious groups, and not a mortal threw up his hat or ventured a cheer. The truth was that mankind generally was in gross ignorance of what a Bluzzard is, and did not know whether to be dejected or elated at its failure to visit these parts. Like the skyutus, which has so often done service in campaign rhetoric, the Blizzard is no ordinary creature, and its ways are quite peculiar. Something of the same breed infests Central Siberia, and raises the mischief on the Steppes at times, but the Blizzard itself is indigenous to the Northwest, and so deeply rooted is its attachment to that quarter that Barnum, with all his enterprise, never got a real live one to this city of ours. The never got a real live one to this city of ours. The Blizzard rejoices in a peculiar name. When they heard of it first some thought it was a kind of reptile, some that it was a fabulous beast or bird and some opined that it was good to eat. The ordinary reader did none of these things, though. He took down a Webster's unabridged dictionary to look for the name and carefully turned the leaves over to B and looked down the columns of words and — didn't find it. After defying such a polylingual glast as Webster no wonder people gave the Blizzard up in despair.

webster no wonder people gave the Bitzzard up in despair.

What the being gave the Bitzzard up in despair.

Now that it has been cutting up capers in the West, however, its nature has been made more familiar during the last few days, and science has a good deal to say about it. When the temperature fails very suddenly and very low, when the wind increases to a gale and blows for all it is worth, when there are no end of frost bites in the land and even amputations are in order—then the Bitzzard is about. It is a name, in fact, adopted by the Western folk to denote just such atmospheric changes as these, and has not as yet been dignified by admittance to scientific ductionaries. The Bitzzard, in addition to its other genial concomitants, often brings a fall of snow along in sharp, gritty fragments, which are actually blinding. This, it is said, accounts for the list of the missing in such storms, as any one caught far from human habitations in one is likely to be lost in it. The Bitzzard generally develops in the Northwest, sweeps the Territories and never comes cast of the Northern Mississippi Valley. The storm behind which the last one developed has passed north of this latitude, too, and is on its way to the British Isles. During its passage the thermometer reached 18 degrees below zero, which was quite a low figure for even such volatile fluid as mercury to strike. It is not very cheering to reflect on, either, for science announces that acold wave is about to arrive here and abide for four or five days. Clear and cold, it declares, the weather will be for a space. So people who began to wonder why ulsters were invented or sealskins came into vogue will have a chance of thinking better or them.

The following record will show the changes in the temperature for the past twenty-lour hours, in comparison with the corresponding date of lag year, as indicated by the thermometer at Hudnut's Pharmacy, Herald Building, No. 218 Broadway:—

INTERNATIONAL LAW.

AN INTERESTING MEETING AT THE BESIDENCE OF DAVID DUDLEY FIELD-IMPORTANT SUB-JECTS DISCUSSED.

The annual meeting of the International Code Committee of America was held last evening at the residence of the president of the society. The following Executive Committee was elected for the year 1880 :- David Dudley Field, president; A. P. Sprague, secretary and treasurer; Theodore D. Woolsey, Charles A. Peabody, S. Ironeus Prime, F. A. P. Barnard, Samuel Osgood, Lafayette S. Fostor, Edward S. Tobey, G. Washington Warren, Alfred H. Love, James L. Angell, John F. Dillon, Herschel V. Johnson, Matthew P. Deady, Erastus C. Benedict, Amasa J. Parker and Howard Payson Wilds. Resolutions of respect for the memory of the late Joseph P. Thompson, D. D., a member of the society, were adopted, after which the report of Chancelior E. C. Benedict, as delegate to the London Conference, in August, was received. It states that the attendance at Guidhall was represented as unusually good, mostly from Continental towns. Many interesting papers were read, and there was much discussion. The hospitalities extended to the members were of the kindest and most distinguished character. All were furnished with cards of admission to the places of historical, scientific, literary and professional interest, which are so abundant in London. "We were given a distinguished banquet by the Lord Mayor at the Mansion House," said Mr. Benedict, "with many guests of distinction from the corps diplomatique as well as the Corps Logislatif and Judicial. * * The Architishop of Canterbury extended to us the freedom of Lambeth Paiace, and the Marquis of Salisbury, the British Foreign Secretary, did the same for Mathield House, his seat, some twenty-five miles from London. * * What is rarely extended to strangers, the Queen gave us the freedom of Buckingham and Windsor palaces, with their most royal and private spariments and objects."

On motion of Dr. Osgood it was resolved that this committee has heard with pleasure the report of Chancellor Benedict, a delegate to the Conference of the Association for the Moform and Codification of the Law of Nations, held in London, in August last, showing that the Conterence was highly successful, and that progress has been made in the codification of international law and in the development of a public sentiment throughout all mations favorable to the scaption of peaceful and judicial means for the settlement of international controversies.

On motion of Judge Peabody a resolution was adopted to the offect that the frequency of showneds and more effective means of redress than now exists. The frequency with which the tribunals or administrative boards of d and Howard Payson Wilds. Resolutions of respect for the memory of the late Joseph P. Thompson, shows that national courts cannot always be relied upon for impartial judgments, and the absence of any provision for the recovery of damage in cases of death at sea makes legislation necessary. In poin of fact, when a shipwreck occurs as the law now stands it is hardly to much too say that it is for the interest of the shipowners that death rather than a lesser injury should occur. A law should be passed rendering hability for loss of life at sea similar to that on land.

BILLS OF EXCHANGE AND GENERAL AVERAGE.
It was also resolved, on motion of Secretary

BILLS OF EXCHANGE AND GENERAL AVERAGE.

It was also resolved, on motion of Secretary Sprague, that the committee views with satisfaction the general average, known as the "York-Antwerp Rules," but regrets the action of the New York Chamber of Commerce in declining to join with other organizations in their universal adoption. It is for the interest of the monetary and commercial classes of this country to aid in the procurement of international uniformity, not only in respect to the rules of general average, but as regards the laws of bills of exchange, coinage and kindred matters.

After the meeting the company was invited to a colation, which was served by Mr. Field.

PAINTINGS AT THE UNION LEAGUE. The collection brought together, in the art gallery of the Union League Club, for the monthly art re-ception, which took place last evening, was, we are glad to say, much smaller than that of last month, when the walls were overcrowded. Though not of more than fair quality it contains several works of much interest. Prominent among these is a large decorative work by Charles Caryl Coleman, called "Almond Biossoms." It is beautifully drawn and the coloring is fresh and delicious. The jars and a saucer by the copper vase, out of which the branches spring, are exquisitely painted, and the texture of the drapery on the wall and shelf is 'very dextrously given. "A Fisherman's Home, Long Island." is one of the best of Charles H. Miller's works, being in the lower part most subtly handled. "The Question of the Sphinx" is a weird, original and well painted little example of Elihu H. Vedder. A. H. Wyant's "Evening" is of Elihu H. Vedder. A. H. Wyant's "Evening" is in general very good, though its sparkling sky is rather explosive and is spotted in parts. A bright, sunshiny, freshly handled and really excellent picture is Wordsworth Thompson's "Luino—Lago Maggiori." Sandtord R. difford has painted a good "Sunrise on the Matter-horn"—that most picturesque of Alpine peaks—which is noticeable for its nne tonal qualities. J. Ogden Wood's "Cattle" are not as successfully treated as usual, and J. Carleton Wiggins' "A Gray Day in Summer" marks a decided advance, though the white cow on the meadow, in the middle distance, seems some sixteen feet long. Arthur Quartley's "Old Dock, Squirrel Island, Maine," is a bright little marine in which the water is too much in the same key as the sky.

Squirrel Island, Maine," is a bright little marine in which the water is too much in the same key as the sky.

Though we have seen Thomas Allen, Jr.'s "Prairie Landscape—Mexican Herdsman" before, we are glad to again note the excellence of its perspective, its vigorous handling and strong local color. His village scene, though quite realistic, is not so successful. "Going to the Spring" is a crisp little bit by E. L. Henry. Among the other pictures are a pleasing Waiter Satterlee, "Lagging Hours;" F. Hopkinson Smith's rather woolly "Spring Morning;" J. Nicoll's crisp and clever "Fish Head—crand Menan;" Arthur Parton's "Sterling Castle," F. A. Silva's "The Rasher's Hut," J. H. Dolph's "Hunting Dogs," K. Van Elfen's "Moonlight in New Jorsey; C. S. Reinhart's good little work, "A Esiny Day;" A. F. Bricher's millinery figure among the flowers of "Spring at Newport;" George H. McCord's "Wintry Night, Fifth Avenue," watch we have already praised; Constant Mayer's Prose and Poetry," R. Swain Gifford's broadly handled "Salter's Beach," a pleasing picture of "Family Life," by Cornelis W. Conan; C. Baker's water color, "On the Esopus;" J. W. Champney's "The Back Door," Humphrey Moore's Soldiers of Morocco," A. F. Bunner's "The Old Mill," Gilbert Gaul's effective "The Camp Fire," A. C. Howland's "Ghimpse of Stockbridge, Assa,," and a sunshiny study by Lockwood de Forest of the "Court of an Arab House."

THE CARVER SALE—THIETY THOUSAND FIGHT HUNDRED AND FIFTY THREE DOLLARS FOR

SEVENTY-EIGHT PICTURES. In spite of the bad weather there was an excellent ce, which included a strong gathering of Wall street brokers, at the sale last evening, at the Leavitt Art Galleries, of the collection of pictures belonging to Mr. Benjamin F. Carver. The collection of seventyeight canvases brought $30,853. The prices reache were in general good, in several cases rather high and the bidding often spirited. The highest price was $2,810, which was paid by Mr. George G. Haven for Meyer von Bremen's "The Little Brother," which started at $1,000. Kretchraar's "The Torn Kite" brought $520 from Mr. Taylor. For Learel's "The Parret" $240 was given, and Emite Levy's charming "Spring Time" reached $440. Max Volkhart's "Une Affaire d'Honneur" was worth more than $310 and Leon Richet's "Landscape" more than $310 and Leon Richet's "Landscape" more than $245. Mr. R. B. Hartshorne paid $300 for D. R. Knight's "The Neighbors," and Mr. George H. Peabody $900 for Frappa's "A Striking Picture." Zimmerman's excellent "The Wine Tasters" reached only $500. Mr. Hartshorne gave for Moreau's "in the Country" $475, and Russinelli's "The Bay Window" went down at $300. The little Tonie-mouche, "Highly Pleased," cost $200. Kenset's "Near Newport" went for $185, S. R. Gifford's "Torre dei Schiavi" for $230 and J. H. Beard's "Landscape and Deer" for $250. Piot's "The Oracle" went under at $1,150. Mr. Haven paid $1,300 for Verboeckhoven's "The Restless Bull." The little Kaemmerer brought $670 and the Vibert $735. price was $2,810, which was paid by Mr. George G. Plot's "The Oracle" went under at $1,50. Ar. Haven paid $1,500 for Verboeckhoven's "The Restless Bull." The little Kaemmerer brought $670 and the Vibert $575. Carl Hubner's "The Village Dostor" resched $500 and Hiddeman's "The Stylish Darky" $700. Baugniets "Visit to the Baby" cost somebody $1,475, and Mr. Wordsworth paid $975 for Verboeckhoven's "Sheep and Lambs." Doyen's "The First Born" was sold for $775, and the two Bottschers for $370 and $480 respectively. Mr. Haven gave $400 for Zierman's "Caught in the Act" and $285 for Hertel's "An Evil Conscience." Boker's excellent "Spile Milk" sold for $300 and Simonetti's "In the Park" for $506. Carl Siebel's admirable "Cattle" were cheap at $220. The excellent little Diaz brought $750, and Jacques' classic "Pastoral," $400. For Gues' "The Guitar" Mr. Charles Wolfe gave $160. A second Jacques brought $370, Marchetti's "Moorish Sentinel," $580, and Rougeron's "The Billet Doux." $300, from Mr. Frost. Boughton's "Winter Landscape" fell to Mr. Haven for $360, and Melbye's "The Needles—English Channel" to Mr. Friedman for $220. Escosura's "Lady at Toilet" reached $900, which price was paid by Mr. Wordsnorth.

A WOMAN KIDNAPPED

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE HERALD.]

Tononto, Ont., Dec. 11, 1879.

A mysterious case of kidnapping occurred in this city last night. In September two young men, brothers, named Deal, were charged with kidnapping Robert Jaffray, a prominent merchant, and one of them was convicted and sentenced to two years' imprisonment in the Central Prison. Since then Mrs. Deal, the mother of the boys, has been very active Deal, the mother of the boys, has been very active in her endeavors to obtain the release of her son, and it is hinted that some political motive underlies the whole affair. Last night Mrs. Deal left home to visit a friend, and within a few yards of her residence a heavy shawl was thrown over her head and wrapped tightly about her body, pinioning her arms to her sides, and was lifted into a buggy. From a sweet, sickly smell that exhaled from the shawl she knew that she was being chloroformed, and soon became unconscious. When she recovered consciousness she found herself in a field in a suburb of the city with a man and woman, or, as she suspects, a man dressed in female attire. Her wrists were fastened together with a rope, and she was being dragged along. The night air revived her, and she screamed and struggled with her captors. She succeeded in breaking from them and freeing her hands. She ran screaming toward a house at the end of the field, but she was overtaken and a desperate struggle ensued in which every article of dress was torn off Mrs. Deal except her petitionat and underclothing. She succeeded in again escaping and ran nearly naked toward the house, when her cries attracted attention and her captors field. She was attended to, and after her recovery was driven home. This morning she is under care of medical men and the case is in the hands of the detectives. in her endeavors to obtain the release of her sor
